Rights and Responsibilities of Financial Aid Recipients

There are certain rights and responsibility students must adhere to in order to receive monetary awards.

Student Responsibilities

1. It is the students' responsibility to attend class. Class attendance is vital to being successful in college and maintaining eligibility for aid. Confirming enrollment does not establish eligibility for aid.
2. It is the students' responsibility to complete and submit all necessary documents in the required time frame. Financial aid will not disburse until all required documents are completed and submitted.
3. To ensure timely communication, students should consistently check their Lee email and campus post office box. If phone, address, or other contact information changes, notify the Financial Aid Office.
4. Financial aid recipients must be enrolled at least half-time in a degree program. In certain cases, students who are less than half-time may be eligible for the Pell Grant. Only credit hours that count toward the declared degree will count toward aid eligibility.
5. Financial aid recipients must maintain satisfactory academic progress to retain eligibility for aid.
6. Financial aid recipients must maintain good standing within the university community. The Financial Aid Office reserves the right (on behalf of Lee University) to review and cancel any financial aid award in the event of academic, financial, or disciplinary misconduct on the part of the recipient.
7. Students anticipating funds from sources other than the Financial Aid Office should notify the office as soon as possible. This includes scholarships, loans, etc. The university may reduce awards if total aid exceeds the cost of attendance.
8. Students receiving institutional funding are required to comply with chapel attendance policies. Students who have been on chapel probation for three or more consecutive months and are on chapel probation at the end of the semester will forfeit any university-funded scholarships for which they would have otherwise qualified during the following semester.
9. If family/individual situations change during the school year, students should notify the Financial Aid Office. Students may qualify for a special conditions revision. Examples of changes would be death, loss of job, significant out of pocket medical expenses, etc.
10. Students must reapply for financial aid each year by submitting the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The application opens on October 1.

Student Responsibilities – When Graduating or Withdrawing

1. Students planning to withdraw or drop any course work should notify the Financial Aid Office prior to doing so to determine impact on aid eligibility. Students may be required to repay part or all of the financial aid received.
2. Graduation or withdrawal may impact eligibility for future financial aid.
3. All loan recipients must assume repayment upon leaving school or dropping below half-time. Prior to graduation or withdrawal, an exit interview should be completed to ensure full understanding of loan terms and repayment provisions (including deferment options).

Lee Financial Aid General Policies

1. The Financial Aid Office will process financial aid requests without regard to race, religious affiliation, gender, age, or disability. All funds are subject to individual student need as well as the availability of funds.
2. Institutional Scholarships (including academic scholarships and employee tuition discounts) can be applied toward only one off-campus study program during a student's enrollment at Lee. This includes intercultural studies internships, student teaching (distance placement), the Semester Study Abroad: UK program, and Global Perspectives trips.
3. Off-campus study programs that are directly sponsored by Lee University and led by Lee University faculty are the only study programs eligible for institutionally-funded aid.
